8. OTHER PRACTICAL INFORMATION:

Water:

The tap water in Basel and its surrounding is drinkable.
The public fountains in the city provide likewise potable aqua.

City-Ticket:

In most hotels, you will be given a city-ticket that enables you to travel in the whole city for free without having to worry about a ticket, zones or ticket machines.

Monetary Information:

The currency used in Basel is Swiss Francs (CHF) but many shops, supermarkets, bars and restaurants also accept Euros (EUR) – the change, if any, will however be given in Swiss Francs.

Even though Switzerland is well known for hosting a multitude of internationally important banks, many shops, supermarkets, bars and restaurants do NOT accept credit cards. We therefore warmly recommend our guests to withdraw some cash when discovering the city in order to escape some unnecessary frustration.

Swimming in the Rhine:

Swimming in the Rhine is a unique experience. However, note that only experienced swimmers who are also able to dive should swim in the Rhine. It is not enough to be able to just float downstream.

Swimming in the Rhine ports and close to the hydroelectric power plants is prohibited!

We do not assume any responsibility for incidents.

See the city's guidelines:
